

April 11, 2012

Re: Letter of Recommendation
For: Alfredo Diaz, CEO Aerarium, LLC.

Having worked with Alfredo Diaz in the early development of the software now known as AptaFund, I am writing this letter of recommendation for Alfredo Diaz whom I believe will offer school districts and charter schools superior services in providing Value Added AptaFund financial management and consultation. This recommendation is based upon my first hand experience working with the district's technology department and with Alfredo on various district technology projects while serving as Assistant Superintendent of Educational Services for the Sunnyside Unified School District #12 in Tucson, Arizona from 1993 through 2006.

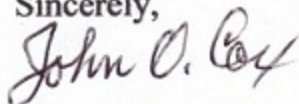

In 1997, the district contracted with Alfredo to develop a new financial management software system to operate on the Microsoft SQL server platform to replace the aging Basic Four mainframe. The software was developed by Alfredo and became operational shortly after the beginning of 2000. The software has continued to evolve with the inclusion of various modules such as Human Resources and Warehouse Function. Today, Alfredo is responsible for the software known as AptaFund being installed in over 150 school systems in the United States.

In addition to the development of the AptaFund software, Alfredo developed specialized custom reports for various departments. For example, he integrated the substitute teacher (Sub-finder software system) into payroll as well as integrating the classified employee automated time clock system into payroll. Time and time again, he responded to the district's request for system integration of various other software systems. With each request to develop or integrate software functionality, at the core of whether the development or integration was successful, was the outstanding ability of Alfredo to design and implement staff development for certified, classified, and administrative staff.

With Alfredo's proven managerial skill in developing and running a company of Information Technology specialists as well as responding effectively to the Sunnyside District's requests, he has demonstrated the abilities to plan, coordinate, supervise, and schedule his time and the time of others on a variety of projects. All of these experiences point to a seasoned technology veteran prepared to offer value-added services, financial software, and consultation through his company to school districts and charter schools.

Therefore, without reservation, I recommend Alfredo Diaz and his company, Aerarium, LLC, to fulfill the role as AptaFund Value Added Reseller and provider of Consulting Services for school business office financial management systems.

Sincerely,

John O. Cox, PhD
7972-218 E. Colette Circle
Tucson, AZ 85710
520-731-8121